

KinderConnect – Correcting Parents after Merging Attendance

If a Provider creates a Non-Subsidized (Private Pay) Schedule to track attendance while an authorization for Subsidized Child Care is in process, the Provider needs to merge both schedules once the Subsidized Child Care is authorized. Below, we will review common mistakes made when merging records and how to fix them:

A

Problem: KinderConnect shows the name of one Subsidized Child Care Sponsor and one non-subsidized (Private Pay) Sponsor for the child because when the child was approved to receive Subsidized Child Care, the name of the Sponsor was imported.

How to correct: The Provider should merge the private pay Sponsor with the Subsidized Child Care Sponsor using the Sponsor > Merge page.

Problem: After merging a private pay Sponsor with a Subsidized Child Care Sponsor, other children that the Sponsor is associated with, who are not receiving Subsidized Child Care, are no longer associated to the record of the parent.

How to correct: The Provider makes a list of all other children sponsored by the Sponsor now receiving Subsidized Child Care. Once the Provider completes merging the non-subsidized (private pay) and the Subsidized Child Care record of the Sponsor, the Provider adds the children to the record of the Subsidized Child Care Sponsor.
